Elise Sanguinetti was born in Anniston, Alabama, where she and her husband now live. She studied creative writing at the University of Alabama ^{with Hudson Strobe} and worked summers as a reporter and feature writer on her father's newspaper. She and her husband have lived in the North and ~~have frequently travelled~~ ⁸ abroad. Mrs. Sanguinetti is the author of three previous books: THE DOWAGER, NEW GIRL, and THE LAST OF THE WHITFIELDS. Her writing has already been described as the work of a new and significant voice in Southern fiction.
